The Rice Trade

China's Crop Prospects Good Except In South

Japan Buying Big Saigon Deal

IN Shanghai the operations in imported rice by the Chinese dealers have been confined to immediate-hand supplies. The trade has been inactive for some time, more so perhaps than the market position would exactly justify. This with the rising prices of native rice inspires the hope that greater importations of Saigon, Rangoon and Bangkok rice will be made into Shanghai shortly. Present stocks in Shanghai of imported rice are assessed at about 50,000 bags, comprising mainly Rangoon. On the other hand, those of Chinese are calculated at some 200,000 bags, a decrease of 100,000 since the beginning of August. The shrinkage in local supplies of the native product are in a way due to the recent typhoon, which interfered with the flow from the rice-producing districts of China.

CHINA'S CROP GOOD

It is interesting to add that according to reports received from the rice-growing provinces of China, the crop this year is expected to be a good one. The outlook almost all over the country is encouraging, and some districts go so far as to forecast as much as 20 percent yield above normal. If these estimates are correct and the crop is favored with good weather the foreign importation which we witnessed on such an unprecedented scale this year should be affected considerably.

It is in all probability the belief that the Chinese rice crop will be an excellent one that is precluding Chinese merchants from rushing to lay in stocks of Rangoon, Saigon and Bangkok.

The present supplies in the hands of dealers and in the warehouses in Shanghai imported from abroad, namely 50,000 bags, are too small; should a demand spring up the whole quantity would be taken off the market in a day or two. For the past month-and-a-half there have been no importations of Saigon, Bankkok and Rangoon into Shanghai. Two reasons are given for this. One that stocks were considered for present needs, obviating any necessity to rush in and lay further supplies, and secondly some of the importers dealers are reported to have suffered heavy losses in the season just being brought to a close in their attempted manipulations of foreign rice. There have been many cases where contracts had been dishonored, and importers driven to the alternative of putting the grain up to public auction. At present, importers of Burma, Siam and Indo-China are demanding a large margin from the dealers to insure them against any loss in case of failure to take delivery when the cargo arrives here.

SOME FROM BURMA

It is expected that Shanghai will draw to a small extent upon the Burman market for supplies of the cereal, while further imports will depend largely on what the crop of China actually pans out to be. The first instalments of the crop should be on the Shanghai market by the first week of October or probably at the end of September. The intervening period from now till the marketing of the new crop is indeed a critical one, for the crop is so much at the mercy of the typhoons and floods that may sweep the growing areas.

The Chinese traders of Indo-China handled most of the export trade of that country on account of an increased demand for rice from China. Interest rates in Indo-China continued high on account of a shortage in the rice crop and the low value of the franc.

Compared with a month ago, prices of rice abroad are slightly higher. Rangoon, small mill is quoted at eight rupees and four annas per picul cif Shanghai. The Shanghai rate Tls. 4.40 per picul, which is below the tael equivalent of the Rangoon quotation. The Shanghai supply of Rangoon small mill quality that is on offer on the Shanghai market costs the dealers Tls. 4.65 per picul cif Shanghai. Saigon No. 1 quality is rated at Tls. 4.50 to Tls. 4.60 per picul.

HONGKONG'S PURCHASE

Large quantities of Saigon rice have been going to Hongkong, but recent advices from the Colony mention a diminution in these imports. Hongkong Chinese interests have secured control of the Nam Loong Rice Company of Saigon, their greatest competitor. This rice firm is the largest in Saigon, rated at over 100 million piasters. The prediction concerning the future of rice growing in North Manchuria gives evidence of materialising with the recent opening on the

NIGHT FLYING WITH SPECIAL MAIL 'PLANES BIG SUCCESS

U. S. Postal Chief Declares Service will Be Permanent

CROSS COUNTRY

Trans-Continental Mails To Be Carried In Thirty Hours

(BY UNITED PRESS)
(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Aug. 23.—Postmaster General Work today announced that trans-continental night flying with the mail planes equipped with electric lights had proved even more successful than the Post Office Department had hoped and that the service would soon be a regular feature of mail transportation.

In his announcement the Postmaster General revealed an epochal development in the Post Office department's recently constructed mail planes. One of the test planes, flying from San Francisco to the Atlantic Coast landed at Hempstead, Long Island, the Atlantic rendevous of the mail service, in 28 hours and 59 minutes. The distance from San Francisco to New York is 3,191 miles.

Postmaster General Work said that the night airmail service would be started at once and that Americans living on either coast would be able to get their mail under thirty hours from time of posting regularly within a very short time.

Announcement of the epochal mail plane flights in the United States means that Shanghailanders, if their mail is marked via airmail, will in the near future be able to get mail from the Eastern coast of the United States two days sooner than at the present time. When the services is continued to include Honolulu it will effect an even greater saving in time. The same saving of time applies, of course, to mail from Shanghai and other points in China, addressed to the East coast of the United States.

U.S. Has Anthracite Supply For Four Months; Coolidge May Act To Halt Strike

Secretary Hoover Gives Out Statement Regarding Stocks In Hand; President Watching Situation Closely; Walk-out Would Cripple Industry

(BY UNITED PRESS)
(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Aug. 23.—Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover today announced that the United States had on hand a supply of anthracite coal that would last for four months if a strike of hard coal miners is called on September 1 as threatened by President John W. Lewis of the miner's union.

President Coolidge and the Cabinet are reported to be watching the situation very closely and preparing to act in case of emergency.

It is said that there is a possibility of the President making a last hour attempt to persuade the miners to call off the strike.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover's announcement means that there is at the present time enough hard coal on hand in the United States to last until January 1, 1924, which would cause a general shutdown of essential industries and a possible great amount of suffering in the middle of the Winter. The strikes will not effect the soft coal miners in the Middle West and in the West, but the soft coal supply is not sufficient to provide coal for heating and cooking purposes for the entire country and in a great many instances is not the proper coal for the industries. Throughout the Eastern United States most of the cooking is done with gas although in recent years there has been a tremendous increase in the number of electric ranges in operation.

A strike in September would cripple the United States severely from an industrial point of view as well as cause a general upward price movement.

President Coolidge has not intimated what course of action he would pursue in the event of a strike, his last announcement on the question being based on the premise that neither the coal operators or the miners would dare cause the country's coal supply to be stopped in the face of public opinion.

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Aug. 22.—According to a Government survey in connection with the threatened strike, national stocks of coal are sufficient to supply national requirements for over four months.

MEN OF THE "BEE" STAGE ADMIRABLE RESCUE ON RIVER

Remarkably Quick Work Saves Man From Drowning

A remarkably swift and efficient bit of rescue work on the part of officers and men of H.M.S. Bee saved the life of a Chinese yesterday afternoon and brought forth hearty expressions of admiration from witnesses on the river front yesterday afternoon.

The incident occurred off the Canton Road jetty just a few minutes after the report of the typhoon gun had directed the attention of pedestrians and Lund office occupants to the waterfront. A Chinese cargo lighter was proceeding along inshore when the steam tender Chiang Hsun swung in toward the jetty. An incoming river steamer cramped the movement of the vessel and as the tender passed the lighter it struck the yuloing oar and tumbled one of the three Chinese aboard into the river, where he was borne rapidly away in the strong tide. Almost immediately the collision came a motor launch shot away from the side of the Bee and made for the drowning man and he was caught hold of and pulled aboard.

NEW MINISTER OF FINANCE TO PAY POLICE FIRST

Chang Hu Admits He Has No Scheme To Save China

BY JABIN HSU
(Staff Correspondent)

Peking, August 21.—I saw Mr. Chang Hu tonight upon his return from Tientsin where he had important conferences with the leaders of the Chihli faction. The interview was a brief one as he had many visitors waiting on him at 6 Ho Pu Chia where the Minister of Finance is making his temporary headquarters.

Small in stature, Minister Chang moved into the drawing room gracefully and spoke without reserve. Asked what scheme he had in relieving the financial stringency of the nation, Mr. Chang smiled and admitted that he had none, nor he believed that there was any one at the present moment that could do any thing to relieve it.

"The atmosphere will be obscure for a considerable time in Peking yet," he said. "But for the present I shall be satisfied with looking after the salaries of the agents for peace and order of the capital for the next six months as well as the maintenance of the educational insitutions in the Metropolis.

POLICE FIRST

"Much anxiety has been expressed with regards to the restlessness of the gendarmes and police in Peking recently on account of the failure of the government to pay them the necessary funds. Some think that disturbance might be created if no remittance is made for any more time. So my mission today is to raise a loan for the payment of the arrears so that at least for the next six months, there need be no continuation of that restlessness.

"Another important mission I have in accepting the portfolio is to see that the schools under government control are given the funds necessary for their re-opening. At present, these

QUEZON AIMS TO DISCREDIT WOOD IN G.O.P. EYES, BELIEF

Filipino Senate Chief Venting Hatred Of Governor-General

HAS DEEP GAME

Charges Against Mayor Rodriguez Smoke Screen, Charge

Exclusive Dispatch To THE CHINA PRESS

Washington, Aug. 22.—The War Department today received telegrams from Senate President Quezon and Governor-General Wood concerning the charges made against Mayor Rodriguez. Quezon charged that the Mayor was an ex-convict charged with abduction and being an accomplice in the murder of an American army sergeant.

General Wood informed the Department of the charges filed, and said he had had no previous information of Rodriguez' career. An investigation into the charges is being made, he said.

Americans here consider Senate President Quezon's charges against Mayor Rodriguez merely another in the long string of mud-slingings that the Filipino politicos are making against the Governor-General, in an attempt to embarras General Wood as well as the Democrata party, which threatens to win the special election for Senator from the Fourth Senatorial District.

It is problemical what Quezon hopes to accomplish by his charges unless he wishes to make General Wood decide the game here is not worth the candle and resign, leaving Quezon unhindered in his political maneuvers.

It is also said that Quezon's actions are springing from a bitter attempt to create bad feeling against Wood in the United States so that Wood's chances for nomination for the presidency by the Republicans will become an impossibility.

General Wood has the solid backing of the entire American community as well as thousands of Filipinos. Few Filipinos with the exception of the politico ring and the Philippines Herald, are outspoken against him. The Bulletin and the Times are supporting the Governor-General staunchly.

CONSTABLE SLAIN IN COLD BLOOD BY FELLOW OFFICER

Chinese Policeman Flees After Shooting In Avenue Road

A Chinese Police Constable, No. 1132, named Wong Tsz-yuen, was murdered in cold blood late Wednesday night by a fellow member of the force, No. 1390, who thereupon fled with his carbine and is now being sought by the police.

According to testimony at the inquest held before Assessor Allman and Magistrate Loh yesterday Wong, who was off duty and in plain clothes was walking along Avenue Road shortly after 11 p.m. when a quarrel transpired in the home of one Yih Noen-yoong, 1959 Avenue Road. He stopped before the house and was listening to the altercation when the other constable came up and without warning raised his carbine and fired. The bullet entered at one side of Wong's chest, passed completely through the body and crashed into the house at 1960 Avenue Road, narrowly missing a woman. The witness Yih said that when Wong fell he went toward him, whereupon the constable with the carbine warned him back, saying, "If you come I will shoot you too." The murderer then fled.

Wong was taken to the Paulun Hospital where he was able to tell Detective Sub-Inspector Ross that the man who fired the shot was Constable 1390. He could give no reason for the shooting and said he thought the man must have been mad. Wong died shortly after 1 a.m.

It was stated by police witnesses that Constable 1390 was assigned to duty at the time of the tragedy, but that the place where the shooting occurred was on his beat. Both men lived at the police barracks and so far as could be found out here had been no trouble between them.

A warrant was ordered issued for the arrest of the missing constable and the police believe that he will shortly be taken into custody.

TYPHOON SWINGS MORE TO NORTH, NEARS SHANGHAI

Center Expected To Strike Today; Fear Station At Oshima May Be Destroyed

The typhoon which has been sweeping across the Eastern Sea was expected to strike the coast early today, probably in the neighborhood of Ningpo and possibly, owing to the continued curvature in direction, even nearer to Shanghai. Rough weather and squalls are anticipated here today even though the center misses Shanghai.

In a bulletin issued at 9 o'clock last night, when the warning signal was hoisted, Siccawei Observatory announced that there was still a possibility of a recurving of the center more to the north during the night, bringing it nearer to Shanghai and the mouth of the Yangtsze.

It was believed here yesterday that the storm may have destroyed the Japanese meteorological station at Oshima, to the north of the Loochoos. The center of the disturbance struck directly across that place and no communication from the station has been received since early Wednesday morning. There is possibility, however, that the failure of news is due to cable interruption between Oshima and Japan. By reason of the fact that no reports came through yesterday the meteorological station here was unable to estimate the depth of the storm.

So far as was known yesterday there was no shipping in the path of the typhoon and the steamer President Grant was expected to arrive this forenoon on time. Owing to the warnings given southbound coast steamers are remaining in port.

The typhoon gun was fired at 4 p.m. yesterday and in the evening there was a steady fall of the barometer and the wind continued in the northeast and grew in violence.

While the wind strengthened last night there were few reports of actual damage. A scaffolding on top of the Hotel Parisien, put up to carry the string of electric lights for the roof garden, blew into the street. The hotel's lighting system was interfered with for a time, but as far as could be learned nobody was hurt.

LONDON PRESS IS GLOOMY IN COMMENT ON FRENCH NOTE

Anglo-French Differences "Very Great" Says Times

MAIL IS HOPEFUL

Express Would Let Europe "Stew In Own Juice"

(Reuter's Service)

London, Aug. 22.—The annexe to the French Note replies in detail to the British Note in Parallel columns. It says that France has hitherto not perceived the British Government's efforts to approach the ideals of France in the execution of the Treaty but France is convinced that mutual goodwill will lead to agreement.

It cites the French determination, a hundred times stated, not to abandon one centimo of reparations or one pledge she holds till reparations have been completely paid.

The annexe states that the British draft reply to Germany ignored France because it did not mention the essential condition of cessation of passive resistance.

It declares that the British Note was courteous, but conciliatory. France would have preferred a continuance of diplomatic exchanges instead of publicity.

The French Government declares that Germany's capacity to pay is zero by the wish of the German Government, and that a valuation by experts would be useless, but this is no reason for wiping out the debt. The German debt was fixed by the Reparations Commission, but France, while maintaining her claims, is ready to abandon a sum equivalent to the remission of her own war debts. France never said that she would be content to receive 34,000,000,000 gold marks. He claims are theoretically 68,000,000,000 gold marks and her is 27,000,000,000 gold marks. These are the figures that should be balanced.

The British merchant marine has been reconstituted and the German merchant marine destroyed, or only reconstituted as a result of sales to Germany by England.

To substitute experts for the Reparations Commission would be contrary to the Treaty. The annexe denies that the Commission is the reverse of impartial. It declares that France did not go into the Ruhr to find money for reparations, but to seize pledges to create a German will to pay. France never suggested that she would abandon the Ruhr immediately resistance ceased and before payment was completed. She refuses to accept a threat of an appeal to the League of Nations.

The British view on inter-Allied debts does not accord with French interests because under it the Allied debtors of Britain would make good what Germany has failed to pay of Britain's debt to the United States, which, France contends, is practically identical with Britain's share of the A. and B. bonds.

If the British Cabinet is unable to accord priority in respect of reparations, France will be forced rigorously to adhere to the Treaty figures. France ardently desires peace, but this restoration of Europe is impossible except by observance of treaties. France is conscious of loyalty to her engagements to the Allies and is resolved never to disown them.

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 22.—The French Note further states that the general statement of the legality of the occupation of the Ruhr is justified by the Treaty, by the Spa Protocol of July, 1920, by the London Declaration of March, 1921, and by the ultimatum of the Supreme Council of May, 1921. Nevertheless the German Government affects to regard the occupation as an act of hostility, and had organised not passive but active and violent resistance. Therefore the cessation of resistance is a necessary Antecedent to further conversation with Germany. Resistance is not merely contrary to the Treaty, but contrary to the interests of Germany, for whom it is growing more costly than free compliance with her obligations. The occupation of the Ruhr will be modified when resistance ceases, but will continue under very different conditions subject to progressive evacuation proportionate to payments.

The reply reiterates that France has no political annexationist aims and does not desire to remain in the Ruhr longer than necessary. The time when the payment is made depends on Germany's own will. The note instances the rapidity of Austria's recovery when she decided to make an efforts. To ask France to act differently is tantamount to Mr. Lloyd George's words in March, 1921, to the "vanquished reaping the fruits of the victory."

The Note denies that the French claims are of a nature to crush Germany. France has advanced huge sums on Germany's account and cannot suspend the work of reconstruction nor continue it indefinitely at her own expense.

France has never repudiated her war debts to America or England. She is herself a creditor of other Allies to the extent of 5,000,000,000 or 5,000,000,000 gold marks.

The French Government insists that the framers of the Treaty considered that damages to persons and property should be given priority over war debts.

To estimate Germany's future capacity to pay at the very time she has succeeded for the moment in making herself bankrupt would be equivalent to regarding the fraud to enable her to make a fresh start and soon to flaunt her triumphant prosperity in the face of her needy creditors.

The Note points out that France and Belgium hold sixty percent of the Allies' claims on Germany, and therefore, if the question is to be regarded merely as a business matter, what would be said of a company in which the holders of sixty percent of the shares were put in the minority by the holders of twenty percent?

In conclusion the Note states that Britain will be the first to realise that to pay her debts France must recover her taxable capacity and be in a position to meet German competition. "It is doubtless to England's interests that Germany should recover. It certainly cannot be to England's interests that France should be debased."

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, August 22.—There is a solid feeling of satisfaction in political circles regarding the matter and form of M. Poincare's Note, and they are awaiting the development of events with confidence. The opinion is expressed that the absence of recrimination will facilitate the continuance of negotiations.

The evening papers describe the Note as friendly, moderate and clear. The Journal des Debats says that while nothing in the Note renders an Entente more difficult, nothing in it facilitates it. The Temps hopes that Britain will now explain how she wishes to be paid.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Aug. 23.—The morning papers generally agree in attributing to the friendly tone of the French Note, but the phrase "M. Poincare gives nothing," sums up the bulk of the comment.

The Times says that the frank declarations are a definite advantage as clearing the air, but it must be admitted that the differences in the British and French points of view are still very great. Nevertheless it is earnestly hoped that the plain speaking will point the way to settlement.

The Daily Telegraph declares that the Note leaves things precisely as they were and indicates no approximation of a common ground on which Britain and France can hope to renew the deeply desired united action.

The Daily News expresses the opinion that the reply does not carry the world any nearer a solution nor does it point the way to rescue Central Europe from ruin. If M. Poincare forget nothing, he admits nothing and proposes nothing he has not proposed less urbanely already.

The Daily Chronicle concludes that the Note has ended all hope of common action as it does not contain any basis for discussion and hopes that Britain will not be drawn into an endless controversy. The worst result will be, the journal adds, that we shall neither settle quickly nor part.

The Daily Mail alone takes a favorable view. It declares that the Note gives Britain a great opportunity to reach a close understanding by which the mischief of the past three years can be undone and the Entente restored.

The Daily Express profoundly regrets that the French have met the British proposals in a spirit of inflexible obduracy. M. Poincare asks for everything and gives nothing. The British Government must now turn its back on Europe and leave the Europeans to stew in their own juice. Britain's future resides in her Dominions and Colonies.

The Westminster Gazette thinks that the reply brings Britain and France no nearer a settlement and serves only to demonstrate how impossible it is to reconcile British and French policy. The Note imposes on Britain the duty of facing the necessity of separate action. Further discussions on rigid lines would only weaken the British case and delay a settlement possibly ultimately attainable by other methods.

The Morning Post says that it is clear that a common formula has not yet been reached, but it is to a heart-to-heart talk between Mr. Baldwin and M. Poincare rather than to an exchange of Notes to which we must look for a statesmanlike attempt at settlement of the crux of the situation. The first step toward solution lies in the cessation of passive resistance.

The Daily Herald says that the Note proves beyond dispute that the French Government remains where it was. Its policy is one of no change. M. Poincare's reasoning at points is obviously unsound and as a whole utterly unconvincing.

2 ARRESTED ON ARMS CHARGES, BULLETS TAKEN

J. C. Creveling And H. Janko Accused By American Officials

Mr. James C. Creveling, manager of the American Heating and Light Company at 96 Szechuen Road, and Hilli Janko, a Roumanian living at 78 Range Road, were arrested by United States Marshal Thurston R. Porter and Municipal police Wednesday night while driving an automobile owned by Mr. Creveling, and 804 rounds of ammunition in a box in the machine seized.

At 7 o'clock Wednesday night the police received information from a mysterious source that Creveling and a companion would be driving through the Hongkew district with contraband ammunition. Two squads of detectives were immediately rushed into the district and a cordon of police thrown over the streets the expected motor car would have to travel on. After waiting two hours the police at North Szechuen and Range Roads spotted the car they were looking for, stopped it, and held the two men until Marshal Porter, who was with the police at the corner of North Szechuen and Honan Roads, arrived.

Marshal Porter immediately took Creveling and the box containing the ammunition to the American jail where it was found to contain 804 rounds. The Roumanian, not having extraterritorial rights, was taken to the Hongkew police station.

At the American jail Creveling asserted his ignorance of how the bulky package containing the ammunition happened to be in the motor car with them. He was questioned closely by Marshal Porter but maintained it was all a surprise to him.

Janko was brought up before American Assessor Jacobs and Magistrate Li in the Mixed Court yesterday morning and granted bail in the sum of $1,000. The hearing was remanded for one week. In addition to the 804 rounds charge Detective Schmidt testified in the Mixed Court that he had gone to the home of Janko on Range Road and found a pistol and 41 rounds of ammunition.

Creveling was given a preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Nelson E. Lurton yesterday morning and allowed bail in the sum of G. $5,000. Mr. Creveling put up his equity in the motor car as security and the case was continued pending the return from the North of United States District Attorney Leonard G. Busar.

FRENCH PRIEST CAPTURED BY TALIFU BANDITS

Sun Mei-yao, Of Lincheng Fame, Executes 12 Outlaws

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 23.—Bandits today captured a French priest in the Talifu district.

No information concerning the capture of a French priest at Talifu could be obtained from local Catholic institutions last night and it is not known who the captured priest is.

His capture makes two Catholic priests who are now in the hands of bandits as Father A. Mallotto is still held captive north of Hankow.

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, Aug. 23.—The Rev. Onley of the London Mission at Tsaochih who has come down to Hankow from Kuling on account of the bandit outrage there, has received a Chinese letter from his mission station that the bandits are holding up the captives for a huge ransom. Dr. Woo of the London Mission hospital, before his release or escape from the bandits, had been requested by the bandit chiefs to approach the Tsaochih Chamber of Commerce for an enormous sum, so that all captives could be released.

The house of Rev. Onley is definitely understood not to have been burned, but thoroughly looted as were the rest of the houses in the town. Fathers Ward and McHugh of the St. Columban's Mission have returned to Hankow, and stated that their escape was a very narrow one. While they were the only foreigners there, they were dressed in Chinese clothes, and were therefore not easily discernible by the bandits during their raid.

Rev. Onley and other foreign missionaries are advised not to proceed to Tsaochih until some definite news has been received as to the safety and protection in that place. The Chinese authorities have been urged by the Consuls to take effective steps to stabilise conditions there and make it possible for foreigners to visit that place without fear of danger.

Taochuang, Shantung, Aug. 18.—Twelve bandits were executed at noon yesterday in a little ravine about one li to the north west of the Chung Hsing coal mines compound. Their bodies remain unburied.

The execution was a public affair and a large crowd of townspeople attended "the ceremonies," since the majority had all suffered from recent depredations.

The bandits were caught about a week ago in the act of pillaging on the outskirts of the town, but because of the fact that they were former members of the band under Sun Mei-yao, it was thought that they would not receive heavy punishment.

Two nights ago a deputation of the local gentry called upon Mr. Chu, the Chinese director of the Chung Hsing Mines, and asked that the bandits be tried and sentenced immediately, and that if found guilty, their execution be held publicly, in order to set an example to other bandits operating in the neighborhood.

A MILITARY COURT MARTIAL

Since General Sun Mei-yao is nominally in command of the Taochuang area following his incorporation in the army, Mr. Chu immediately sent for him and explained the situation. The bandits recent affair was pseudo-military in character, and since they were former members of General Sun's band, the former leader agreed that they should be tried by military courtmartial.

The trial was held the following day and the merchants and others, including several heads of departments in the Chung Hsing mines gave evidence. The men were all convicted, and their execution was set for dawn the following day. Since it was thought that a dawn execution would not give time enough to notify all the people of the countryside, inasmuch as the courtmartial was not concluded until after midnight, the execution was postponed until noon.

Voluntary couriers spread the news broadcast so that a large crowd assembled well before the appointed hour. Several pedlars, with an eye to business, were on hand with drinks, sweetmeats and other comestibles, so that the crowd made quite a celebration out of the occasion. It was with evident feelings of reluctance that the crowd turned away after the last volley was fired—feelings of reluctance mingled with relief that such an example to marauders had been set.

Both last night and tonight there is comparative quiet. The usual chefs and alarms are noticeable by their absence.

The mine guard however has been considerably strengthened in order not to be caught napping during the temporary lull.

OTHER BANDITS ACTIVITIES

Reports brought from Chaotso to the north indicate that "Bobo" Lien, the former cashier of the foreign captives has taken to the war path again, since he has managed to capture of most of the loot taken by himself and his subordinates, and is once again sorely in need of funds to maintain his "small standing army." Other reports from fairly well authenticated sources are to the effect that his ammunition is running low and that his agents have been negotiating recently for the purchase of additional "Yen rations." In substantiation of this is another report that two Chinese and one Japanese, charged with importing arms and ammunition for "Bobo" Lien's band, were arrested yesterday. It was impossible to verify this latest rumor, however, since the local military denied all knowledge of arrests. This denial may or may not be true, since there are several Chinese who state that they saw the men arrested, but say that the military authorities wish to make no mention of the arrests until the leaders are apprehended.

Peking
Day By Day

BY QUI VIVE
(Staff Correspondent)

Peking, August 20.—It is stated, on excellent authority, that the last chapter of the Coltman case will be settled before long, by the payment of $35,000 Mexican to the family of Mr. Coltman by the newly appointed Minister of Finance, Mr. Chang Hu. It is believed that the settlement will be made even before the reply of the Waichiao-pu has been issued regarding the indemnity demanded in the Lincheng note, since the policy of the present Minister seems to be to clear up all old scores before considering new. Whether or not he will be able to carry out his policy I understand remains a matter of conjecture, since there was strong opposition manifested to his appointment in several sections of Parliament.

Part of the greatest opposition has been removed by the sending of a telegram of congratulation to him by General Wu Pei-fu who it may be added was one of his bitterest enemies last year. Whether this telegram was sent for diplomatic reasons, in order to present a solid united front to the Foreign powers, is not known, but the fact that General Wu's opposition has been withdrawn is considered a great stride in advance.

"In a consideration of the present problems confronting Mr Chang Hu it is interesting to note the great preeminence given by all the leading Chinese powers to the consideration of the Lincheng note. It is almost possible to say that the press of the capital is divided into two distinct camps, i.e., those advocating accession to the demands of the foreign powers and those opposed. In the latter group there is developing a section which might be fitly termed the irreconcilables or "die hards," which comprise those papers whose editors believe that any accession to the demands materially weakens China's position in the eyes of the world.

These "stand patters" however, are fortunately in the minority, and the more conservative element favors the granting of the majority of the demands, particularly with regard to the payment of a monetary indemnity. It is subtle Chinese psychology to realise that once the money is paid the Foreign Powers will be so mollified that they will not press the other demands anent the punishment of responsible officials, nor the adoption of the plan suggested by General Munthe regarding foreign control of the railways.

With regard to the punishment of officials who were named in the note as being directly responsible for the outrage, an illuminating telegram was received yesterday from the local officials of Shantung which had evidently been dictated by the militarists, and those who held their positions under Tuchun Tien. The telegram was a violent protest against the punishment of officials, since the politicians claimed that it was a violation of "International Morality," whatever that may mean. The point being that if the officials named are summarily punished as required by the note, the other officials in Shantung believe that it will only be a question of them before they may be haled to court to explain certain irregularities.

There is a very curious situation existing in Shantung at the present time. Tuchun Tien, the Military Governor tendered his resignation several days ago but thus far it has not been accepted. It is thought that if his resignation is accepted the Foreign Powers will demand to know the reason why and I attribute it to weakness on the part of the Central Government. On the other hand there have been many candidates recently suggested to fill the important post, each with an eye to the lucrative revenues which may be obtained through the administration of the affairs of the wealthy province.

Speaking of wealth, Tuchun Tien, who has held the post a matter of some two years and a half, perhaps a little bit longer, is now reported to be worth at least $10,000,000, which sum was amassed, entirely during his tenure of office. An income of $3,000,000 a year is not bad pay for any office, and it is to be expected that the possessor of such a revenue must "take the good years with the bad." It is only natural that he should wish to resign from office at the present time before he is forced to sit before a court of inquiry and answer many embarassing questions about his personal possessions. Hence his great desire that his resignation be accepted immediately.

There is only one point upon which both the Chinese news agencies and press seem to agree, and that is that the Central Government would "lose much face," (although they do not put it as baldly as that,) if the foreign powers are allowed supervisors over the railroad police, at present protecting China's "steel avenues of commerce."

At first it was very difficult to understand why there strong objections should have been raised, inasmuch as the Chinese merchants and others have been insistent that proper safeguarding should be afforded the travelling public as well as merchandise. The crux of the matter lies not so much in the fear of another hold up, but that if foreign supervision once obtains a foot hold in the supervision of the railway management there is no knowing where it will stop. It might even in time seek to scrutinize the books of the various railways and try to discover why larger dividends were not paid—and then where would the Tuchuns be?

Admiral Wu Yu-lin, Minister of Communications has repeatedly denied the assertion that one copper cash of revenue has ever been sent to the Tuchuns of the various provinces which the railways pass. The Admiral is quite right. Not one copper cash has ever been deducted from the revenues of the railways "after the revenues have reached the ministry of communications." The deduction is made neatly, expertly and painlessly by the various branch offices, the Tuchun and all his friends are given the courtesy of the lines, and in addition sums averaging from $50,000 to $75,000 every month are said to find their way, by mysterious and unknown paths into the several provincial coffers.

The foreign bondholders on several occasions have threatened to step in and demand an official investigation, which has always been welcomed by the Ministry of Communications. At both the annual and semi-annual meeting there are many foreigners present either in person or by proxy, but after the exhibit of the audited accounts of the revenues and the declaration of the usual dividend or to be more exact the payment of the usual interest on the outstanding bonds, the foreigners have little or nothing more to say. Neither is there any fault with the audits. They are made and prepared in the approved fashion and sworn and attested to by public accountants of unimpeachable standing. The fault lies, as I have said before in that the moneys are deducted long before they ever reach the ministry, so that any check upon them is impossible.

It is impossible for a bondholder to ask why the revenues have not been any larger after he has been paid the interest on his bond. Methaphorically his claws are drawn, and thereafter he plays only the part of an interested spectator. The local railway officials in each province are necessarily men from that province, who are appointed to their positions usually on the recommendation of the Tuchun, Tuli, Tuhing, or military governor.

Usually before a man is appointed to a responsible position he must give satisfactory bond which is usually offered by the Tuchun, as guarantor. The embryo official in question before getting his bond must in turn pay the Tuchun a considerable amount for getting him to go on his bond, in addition to having an ironclad agreement either verbal or written that a certain percent of his takings for the railroad will go to "his great benefactor." The salary paid to the official is usually very small and is not in any sense commensurate with the responsibility involved, so he is expected to make up his income from other takings, after the Tuchun's share has been deducted. It is even said that several railway officials have been able to retire for life on a comfortable income after a six month's tenure of office. Whether or not this is true is a matter of conjecture, since the railways officials will never divulge his secret, and the Tuchun could hardly be expected to give the "combination" of one of his most important sources of revenue.

Hence if the foreigners ever get a foothold in the supervision of railway affairs, the Chinese fear that they will exceed their authority in merely protecting the line, and in addition may ask questions which will be very hard to answer.

New Minister Of Finance To Pay Police First

institutions owe various shops and firms not less than $1,000,000.

Asked what plans he had in raising these funds, Minister Chang asserted that negotiations for a loan to be paid in six monthly installments of $800,000 each are being made with foreign bankers and there is every prospect that the arrangements would be brought to a successful conclusion. The salt surplus will be offered as security and at least two of the foreign legations have signified their approval of the loan, Mr. Chang said.

The money will be distributed, after the successful arrangements of the loan, among the police and the educational institutions, by the chamber of commerce and the educational association. The proposal for the loan is being made, not by the ministry itself but by the Peking Association of Peace maintenance of which ex-Premier Hsiung Hsieh-ling and Ex-Premier Sun Pao-chi are directors. The organisation was formed following the Chihli-Fengtien fight by the merchants and educationalists of the capital.

RETIRES SOON

Minister Chang has interesting and definite views on the political situation in China, but at present he said, he preferred to remain silent on the general situation, undertaking to look after the general welfare of the metropolis and the schools for the next six months, while he is resolved to retire upon the expiration of two months from date of his assumption of office, in order to tide the government over the Mid Autumn Festival. He believes that the most qualified man for the post and as his successor is Wang Ko-min, who was prevented from taking the job on account of his close connection with the Bank of China.

Minister Chang Hu did not propose to neglect the troops and other governmental bureaus, but he felt that the police and schools must be taken care of first. He did not consider the situation absolutely helpless, but thought that it would take a long time before national reunification could be accomplished. He is opposed to unification by force and favors a round table conferences of all parties so the leaders may lay their cards on the table and come to brass tags instead of sending up trial balloons as the politicians have been doing.

Mr. Chang confirmed the report that one of the first leaders of the country to congratulate him upon his assumption of office was Gen. Wu Pei-fu, while Chi Shih-yuen of Nanking, Ma Lien-chia of Anhui, Tuli Sun Chuan-fang of Fukien and Admiral Tu Shih-kwei, chief of the Admiralty, had also expressed their welcome.

On the question of the Lincheng demands addressed to the Government by the diplomatic corps, the minister considers them excessive and expressed the opinion that the provincial authorities in Shantung should bear the financial responsibility of the outrage. He stated that his ministry had yet held no conference on the demands so he has no idea of how the note would be answered.

Tls. 9,238 Claim Up For Hearing In British Court

A claim for Tls. 9,238.98 damages made by Messrs. Frazar and Co. against Messrs. J. Naylor and Co. came before Judge Sir Skinner Turner in the British Supreme Court yesterday.

Mr. Baddeley appeared for the plaintiffs and Mr. P. W. Goldring for the defendants.

The statement of claim sets forth that the sum asked is money paid by the plaintiffs in behalf of the defendants. It is stated that on or about September 8, 1920 plaintiffs opened up a credit with the Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China in favor of Messrs. W. G. Groom and Co. This was in connection with the shipment of 20 cases of mosquito nets and it is alleged that defendants represented that the sale of these was already contracted for here and were to repay plaintiffs and give 2½ per-cent commission. On arrival of the nets, it is alleged, defendants refused to take delivery and finally, in June of this year, plaintiffs sold the goods, suffering a loss of Tls. 9,238.98, not counting the commission, which was waived.

Mr. Baddeley stated that an affidavit had been filed and served and asked for summary judgment. Mr. Goldring said that he had filed an affidavit in reply that morning and asked leave to defend. The Court remarked that it was unusual for an action for damages to be brought under this procedure and Mr. Baddeley stated that the damages were not disputed.

Mr. Goldring asked that the action be struck out and read an affidavit in which the defendants denied that plaintiffs had opened the credit with the Chartered Bank as alleged, and that such credit, if any, was opened at the request of, and by arrangement with, Mr. J. J. Dawe, a partner of the plaintiff firm who was in London at the time and acted to oblige Groom and Co. Defendants denied that plaintiffs had yet paid any money to the Chartered Bank other than the money received by them for the goods, or that the loss suffered equaled the amount claimed. Defendants admitted liability for such monies as plaintiffs had paid the bank but until they furnished proof that they had actually paid the money claimed, counsel held, he had a good defense to the action.

Mr. Baddeley stated that plaintiffs had given the bank a promissory note and were liable and after some further argument the Court inquired if it were not a waste of time to go on with the case since defendants had admitted liability. He would adjourn the case until Tuesday. Mr Goldring said he was entitled to arrangement with plaintiffs' counsel.

The case was adjourned until next Thursday.

RUSH OF EVENTS AS SEASON WANES AT MOKANSHAN

Typhoon Does Little Damage; Threats Reported In Tax Matter

Mokanshan, Aug. 22.—Reading of the havoc caused by the great storm at Peitaiho, of torrential rains at Kuling with roads and bridges washed away, of ravages of typhoons at Taichow and Hongkong, the resident of Mokanshan may congratulate himself on the comparative immunity from danger and damage which has so far attended the season here.

Two typhoons in close succession are said to have passed over our mountain resort but they were so mild in their effects that residents of a considerable part of the mountain scarcely realised that anything was transpiring more than an ordinary summer storm. One violent gust, however, struck up the valley, in which the Methodist ladies' home is situated, and ripped off the entire verandah roof, leaving part of the upper story exposed to the rain. Fortunately this occurred at seven o'clock in the morning and the three ladies residing within were enabled easily to make arrangements so as to avoid injury to their personal effects.

The end of the season with its rush of events is upon us. The swimming sports and the annual picnic were held as usual. On the evening of the 16th was held the annual concert. The program was excellent and was enjoyed by an audience that practically filled the new auditorium. On the evening of the 20th came the "stunt night," with a large audience gathered to participate in the fun. While it may be said that all the various stunts were good several stood out as exceptionally pleasing. The rendering of a skit, called "Romeo and Juliet" by six young ladies, who, as they came on the stage, appeared as fine young Romeos, and when they turned in the opposite direction revealed themselves as beautiful Juliets, was perhaps the best item on the program. Closely approximating this in interest and artistry was a farcial representation of "Hamlet" by the younger girls. The fake band, composed of American School boys, giving a selection a la Souza in which the music was supplied by a phonograph hidden behind a screen while the boys went through the supposedly necessary contortions, with elegant gesticulations by their leader, was quite appreciated. Another stunt that caused much amusement was the representation by a large number of the younger men of what is supposed to happen to a big dinner. The gastric juice after a great deal of violent endeavor subdued in turn the turtle soup, the condiments, the turkey, the mince pie, the ice cream, the coffee, and finally the cigars and nuts, all, however, to be disrupted by the "ocean wave," which at last cleared the stage and reigned supreme.

The childrens' hour has this summer been rather more successful than usual. A good deal of juvenile talent has been brought out, and the entertainments given have been enjoyed not only by the children but by a large number of grown-ups as well. The last program when a combination of Blue Bird and Little Boy Blue was presented was much applauded.

The new auditorium, though meriting criticism in several particulars, especially as to its appearance when viewed from the south, the direction from which it is most conspicuous, has already proved to be an asset to the community, worth infinitely more than the $15,000 which it cost. Its position, rendering it more easy of access than the old church, and allowing it to receive every vagrant breeze that blows; its capacity affording comfortable seats without crowding; its splendid accommodations for the public library, for a reading room, and for the kindergarten: all combine to make it an instrument that will do more than any other one thing to give pleasure and satisfaction to the resident of Mokanshan.

A matter of much interest to house owners on the mountain is that of the house tax demanded by the Police Department. It is safe to say that no foreign house owner will pay the tax, at least not until it has been passed upon by his consul, but there are several aspects of the matter that do not make for one's peace of mind. It is reported that the police have intimated that if the tax is not paid or a substantial bonus given they may be unable to protect the mountain hereafter. This hint is, of course, taken to imply that not only will the police not protect the mountain but that they will see to it that the wandering tufei of the region are incited to commit depredations. One hopes that the matter may be settled amicably, and satisfactorily to all concerned.

Gallopers Swamp Millers In First Game Of Series; Scotty Allows But One Hit

Locals Push Over Eight Runs In Second Inning And Three More In Sixth; Bullard Stars At Third; Bills Steals Home

By Westa

The Fort Mills base ball team, champions of the Philippines, began their series with the Gallopers yesterday. Yeh, they began it like a clothes hamper full of ulshpans falling down the cellar stens. Hard as it may be to believe it the score was 11 to 0 in our favor.

The Millers came here with something of a reputation, and no doubt they will justify all the good things that have been said about them before they leave town. But yesterday they were terrible.

At that, it wasn't altogether a case of the Millers being terrible. They looked bad, but the reason for this was because of the contrast afforded by the game put up by Kingman's crew. The Shanghai boys played the finest ball yesterday that they have shown this summer. Their hitting was good and in the field they were a flock of stone walls. This boy Bullard at third is a flash, and with Bills, Thatch and Kingman hitting on all six there was nothing to it. Nothing got away from them.

Scotty pitched the game of his young bald headed life. The ol' timer had more smoke than Velvet Joe, and more curves than Cleopatra in her vampiest mood. He slung them over so fast that the Millers thought he was pitching whistles. One safe blow is all Jawn gave them and the way he and his mates were going yesterday they were lucky to get that. Herby's crew gave a perfect demonstration yesterday of that hoary old axiom, the taller they are the further they flop.

The big part of the party was staged in the second inning, in which session the Gallopers fell on Mr. Juanito, the opposition flinger, for a total of seven safe wallops. These were cashed in one order for eight large, juicy markers—enough, one might say, unless one wished to go further and say plenty.

THE APPETISING DETAILS

The new third sacker, Mr. Bullard, started the fireworks in the succulent second by slamming a hit down the third base line. Jack Smith butted one in the same direction with the laudable intention of sacrificing his teammate, but Juanito, thinking it would roll foul, didn't try for a play. It stayed in and Jack was safe. Mistah Samuel Peppah then drew four wide ones and ambled to first, happier than a Kentucky Colonel juleping his favorite mint julep. That filled the bases with nobody out.

Then along came Posnecki with his wagon tongue and what did he do but slam a screamer to right center? That and nothing else! That enabled Bullard and Smith to check in at the pay station, which is exactly what Mistah Samuel Peppah did an instant later when the Millers' center fielder heaved over Platon's head in an effort to cut Smith off at the plate, Scotty, thoroughly approving of all this activity on the part of his mates, went to bat resolved to help the good work along, but the best he could do was a fly to center on which Smith scored after the catch. Buck Taylor then drew a pass after which our distinguished fellow citizen and that sterling patriot Mr. Jerry Thatch whammed out as neat a two bagger as ever forced an outfielder to cuss his luck and unwind his legs. This scored Buck. Freddy Bills then singled, and just as he was about to steal second the soldier pitcher balked, an offense that was instantly noted and as quickly penalised by Eagle Eye Doc. Clapp, who waved Jerry home and Freddy to second.

BULLARD UP AGAIN

The skipper, next up, was tossed out at first, after which Bullard, batting for the second time in the inning, worked Juanito for an Annie Oakley. Jack Smith and Mistah Samuel Peppah followed with clean hits, Bullard scoring. Posnecki ended the session by popping out to first.

That was eight runs, which as previously remarked were enough, plenty, sufficient. The galloping Gallopers got three more in the sixth, which session was distinguished by the fact that Thatch stole third while the soldier pitcher stood flat footed in the box with the ball in his hand, and the further fact that Freddy Bills pilfered home when Platon, mo-

Baseball Notes

This lad Bullard is the niftiest third sacker that has displayed his wares here in a long time. Yesterday he made a couple of grabs that were bee-ute-ies, one of them being a one handed scoop of a low throw from the skipper that stood the fans on their ears. With this bird on the hot corner that Gallopers infield looks strong enough to stop a Yellow river flood.

John Scott's pitching looked as good as a raise in salary, than which nothing is handsomer, the world will tell you. As usual, Scotty took his time. In fact, he took it a trifle more than usual, which almost resulted in a stroke of apoplexy to Happy Adams. In the fifth, with two down and one more out needed to make it a legal game, and with a whole flock of clouds overhead threatening to let loose a deluge any second Jawn just stood there and dawdled and dawdled. Finally he made a motion that indicated that he was about to start to get ready to begin throwing the ball, and just as everybody was hoping against hope that he would beat the rain to it, what did Jawn do? All he did was to take up the pitcher's plate in a search for some dry dirt to dust the ball with. At this Happy's carburetor began to backfire so fast that Happy nearly choked.

However, he held those beggars to one hit, so nobody had the heart to find fault with his technique.

The skipper made a nice grab of a high, twisting foul from Yiannan's bat in the sixth.

Jerry Thatch shone and sparkled and scintillated like a jeweler's window the week before Christmas. He dug some hot ones out of the mud, and slammed out a two bagger that had in written all over it. Just for that no further mention will be made in these columns of Jerry's ofterings at the Snack Counter.

Herby Gallop wore a smile that was absolutely blissful, beatific, and cherubic; angelic, ecstatic and Cheshire catlic; winsome, infectious and poetic. And besides all that it was won't-come-off. There was no sliding back and forth on the bench for Herby after that second inning yesterday.

Juanito caught Freddy Bills warming at first in the third. Freddy explained that he didn't think it would rain and so left his skid chains in the garage.

POLO PROBABLES MAKING HEADWAY IN GOAL SHOOTING

Candidates Show Much Improvement; Matches Tomorrow

Owing to pressure of business which made it impossible for many of the polo players to get out to the field in time the Senior and Junior tournaments that had been scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday of this week had to be postponed. This was a great disappointment to the committee, as well as to those of the players who were on hand, ready to play.

The postponement of the tournament, however, did not mean the discontinuance of polo for the week, as numerous "pick-up" games have been played, in which the candidates for interport honors were given considerable practice. In this connection it is noticeable that some of the interport candidates have improved greatly in a very important department of the game in which they have been lacking heretofore, namely, goal shooting. Last night there was a good practice session and the friends of the players in question were delighted over the improvement shown in this respect.

On Saturday, weather permitting, there will be eight chukkers of polo, divided into a six chukker match for the Seniors, the "Probables" and "Possibles," and a two chukker match for the Juniors. This latter, in fact, will be a resumption of the Junior tournament. The order of play will be, starting at 4 p.m. sharp: three chukkers for the Seniors, two for the Juniors, and then three more for the Seniors.

The committee is very anxious that all players report at the field promptly at 4 or before, so that play can be continuous. Every effort will be made to give every player an opportunity, although all, of course, cannot play in the first game.

FOOTBALLERS TO GET INTO ACTION OCTOBER 20, PLAN

Early Application For Admission To Leagues Requested

The annual general meeting of the Shanghai Football association will be held at the Cathedral School on Thursday, September 20, it was announced yesterday by Mr. C. W. Hampson, secretary.

It is hoped to get league football started, both on the Recreation Ground and at Hongkew Park, not later than Saturday, October 20, and in view of the necessity of getting out fixture lists at the earliest possible date, it is requested that applications for admission to the Leagues should be sent in as soon as possible—even before the General Meeting if this can be arranged by Clubs.

Present indications are that there will be a dearth of referees during the coming season and the Hon. Secretary of the Association would be glad to hear from any gentlemen who would be willing to officiate. It may be mentioned incidentally that it is very probable that the now defunct Shanghai Referees' Association will be revived at the beginning of the season 1923-24.

The offices of Honorary Secretary and Honorary Treasurer of the Association will become vacant at the Annual General Meeting, and the present Honorary Secretary would be glad to hear from any gentleman who would consider appointment to either position. The address of the Hon. Secretary is No. 17, The Bund; telephone C. 1038.

The Secretary's Report and the Treasurer's Financial Statement for the season 1922-23 are now in the hands of the printers and it is hoped that circulatation will be effected before the end of next week.

Sulin River of the first steam rice cleaning plant in that country. A group of Russians ventured the project last autumn, completing the plant recently. The rice crops of the district are large and satisfactory, while the quality is excellent. The first samples of the Harbin factory make a very good impression.

An analysis of the reports of the growing crop received in Shanghai are interesting. Changsha accounts speak of a flood that has ruined vast acreages of rice in that district. The Swatow crop is put down at some 40 per cent below normal, the harvesting being completed of the first crop. The Hankow district reports are optimistic of a good yield, but estimates of the probable yield are lacking.

SOUTH CHINA SHORT

Owing to the area under cultivation in South China being inundated and the crops destroyed, the yield of the next South China crop will be a disappointing one. A considerable shortage in supplies should result. South China's purchases of imported rice have been nominal due to the disturbed condition of the hinterland supplies by Canton. This lack of demand has had a steadying influence upon prices. It is the belief of merchants and others that buying on a large scale will set in with a restoration of order in that part of the country.

There is a firm undertone in the Hongkong rice market. With the already exported two-thirds of Saigon's exportable surplus, values of Saigon rice in Hongkong are expected to be very firm. From all over China comes information that the ground sown to rice is again less this season than what the farmers desire. This is ascribed principally to the scarcity of suitable seed in some of the famine districts.

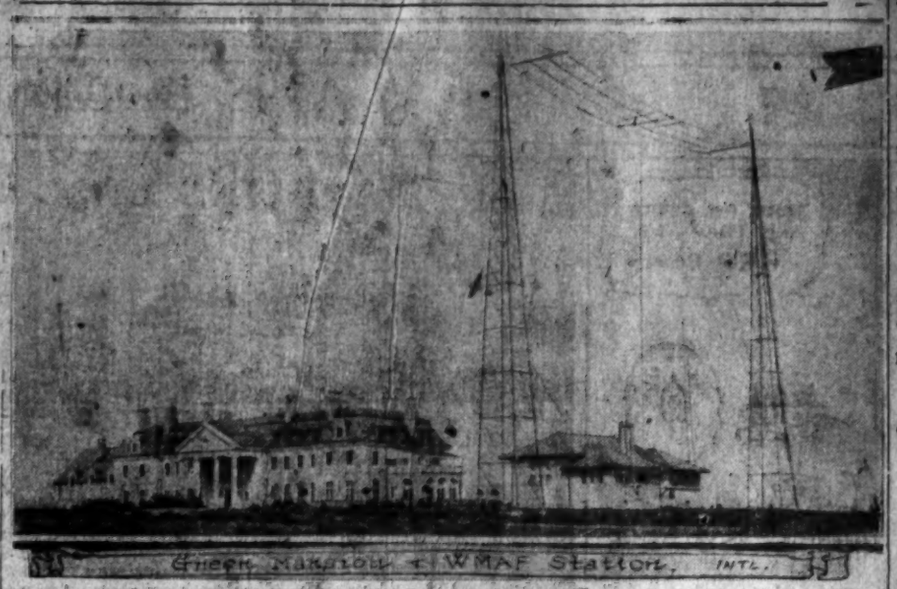
In anticipation of a poor rice crop in Japan with a resultant rise in prices, many Japanese rice merchants are carrying on speculative buying of foreign rice and in consequence transactions for hold space are increasing. Last week three steamers were contracted to carry 10,000 tons of rice from Rangoon to Kobe.

JAPAN'S PROSPECTS

It is unofficially predicted that the rice crop of Japan this year will not be above normal even under the most favorable future weather conditions. Rice insects have been destroying plants in many parts of the rice-growing areas of Japan. The method of fighting the insects has been inefficient but the Japanese farmers are making every effort possible with what equipment they have to exterminate the insects.

The Japanese Government is disposing of large stocks of old rice, most of it three and two years old. These stocks comprise 667,000 koku of Japanese-grown rice, and 156,536 koku of foreign rice. The Japanese Government is at the same time in the market for 400,000 koku of foreign rice to be supplied within two months. Eight steamers have been chartered each of 5,000 tons dead weight, for the carriage of most of this rice from Burma, Indo-China and Siam. At present there are in the Kobe warehouses 500,084 bales of foreign rice, a slight increase over the previous week's holdings.

Colonel E. H. R. Green Is Radio Enthusiast



COLONEL E. H. R. Green, son of the late Hetty Green, is one of the most enthusiastic radio fans in America. In his palatial home at Round Hills, South Dartmouth, Mass., he has erected a broadcasting station of 500 watt power and 360 meter wave lengths, sending out daily the entire programs of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company's New York station. Colonel Green plans to make his estate a great clinic for discussion of radio ideas, a place for college professors to work out their wireless problems.

Waichow Soon To Capitulate, Soy Sun's Agents

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Aug. 23.—Messages from Canton indicate that the situation in the East River districts is unchanged. Dr. Sun Yat-sen's forces have so far been unable to capture Waichow. It is reported, however, that General Chen Chiung-ming and General Lin Hu are no longer on good terms and that the latter is refusing to send reinforcements from Swatow. Owing to lack of help from General Lin Hu and a shortage of provisions in Waichow, it is expected that the city will shortly be compelled to capitulate.

The gunboats, Haichang and Dingjui, are reported to have steamed out of Foochow on Monday to attack Amoy. The transport, Chenan, with marines on board, is following. General Tsang Chih-ping is endeavoring to hold Amoy with 1,000 troops. Owing to a shortage of provisions and failure to pay the troops, a mutiny is feared.

Encouraged by the failure of General Tsang Chih-ping at Amoy and also by the declaration of General Lu Yung-hsiang that he will preserve peace in Chekiang, General Tsao Kun's supporters have apparently decided not to lose time in promoting his election to the position of Chief Executive. His chief propagandists, Messrs. Hsung Ping-chi and Pien Shou-ching, are again in Peking considering ways and means of raising funds to pay the Members of Parliament, while both Houses of Parliament are holding an informal meeting this afternoon to draft a program of preliminary steps to be taken by Parliament in respect of the Presidential election. At the same time General Wang Chih-ping has left for Mukden to endeavor to align Paotingfu and Mukden in the question of the Presidency. Several Members of Parliament have returned from Shanghai.

American Radicals Have Big Fund For Elections

Chicago, Aug. 21.—A gigantic militant campaign is planned by the newly organised Federated Farmer-Labor party, the group of ultra-radicals which seceded from the Farmer-Labor party at the recent convention here.

This was announced by Joseph Manley, secretary of the new party, who said that by the time of the Presidential campaign in 1924 at least 5,000,000 members will have been enrolled. The majority of these will be the dirt farmers, he said, a group which "alone is powerful to place a President into office." The farmers are laughing at these boasts, however.

Manley did the talking for William Zebolous Foster, arch enemy of Samuel Gompers and the most important link between the American Labor movement and the Third Internationale of Russia, and also for Charles E. Rutherberg, executive secretary of the Workers Party of America, and a convicted Red. Manley and Foster, who incidentally is his father-in-law, are accused of "stealing" the Farmer-Labor party convention when they organised the Federated Farmer-Labor party.

FARMERS AND WORKERS

"The Federated Farmer-Labor party immediately is going to launch a militant campaign to win the masses of organised workers and farmers," said Manley. "One of the first steps in this campaign will be the calling of a great convention in Chicago in midwinter. At this convention there will be many thousands of delegates.

"At that plans will be laid for one of the greatest working political campaigns in the history of this country. The politicians in the old parties may just as well realize the fact that the new Federated Farmer-Labor party will be a vital, if not a decisive factor in the 1924 elections.

"It will at once embark on a tremendous campaign to obtain the support of all branches of labor. Its foundation marks an epoch in the political history of this country.

And there will be "plenty of money to finance the party," according to William Z. Foster, the acknowledged dictator of the new organisation. Foster, Ruthenberg and Manley were invited to participate in the fourth annual Farmer-Labor party conference, but not in the convention last week. They are accused of taking things in their hands and "stealing" the convention.

REMINDER OF "BIG BILL."

The Foster-Ruthenberg-Manley triumvirate has banded together the strongest aggregation of Reds, I. W. W.s, Syndicalists, Communists, and Soviet followers to help them run the new party since the days of "Big Bill" Haywood, who a few years back boosted the membership of the I. W. W. from 13,000 to 212,000 as a result of a two year national campaign.

The new radical venture of Foster and his adherents under the guise of "The Federated Farmer-Labor Party" has already obtained pledges of more than $50,000 to help finance the political campaign incidental to the big convention next winter.

Foster was tried last April for alleged violation of the Michigan law against criminal syndicalism, following a spectacular raid by Government agents of a Communist party convention at Bridgeman, Mich., last August, when thirty-two men and women delegates were arrested. Foster secured conviction because of a hung jury.

Hair Falling? Germol Stops It

Try the Remarkable New Hair-Root Nourisher. Notice Difference in a Few Days.

After combing your hair, do you find your comb full of dead and broken off hairs? How long do you suppose this can keep up before you become entirely bald? There is no excuse for this condition, now that the newly discovered hair nourisher, GERMOL, will positively end hair falling within a very short time. GERMOL gives remarkable vigor to the hair roots, where the source of the trouble lies. Every hair is held tightly in its root sac, and your hair stops falling. You can prove this in a short time. GERMOL also stops scalp itching and the condition which results in dandruff. It gives youthful vigor to hair-roots and brings back to the hair its lustrous original color. Your hair will be silky, full of life, luxurious. You need nothing else but GERMOL to give yourself a luxuriant growth of healthy hair. It produces results even in those of advanced years where the hair is grey and thin. Start using it today and solve your hair problem for all time to come. One bottle will prove it.

Rotarians Here Plan For More Good Cheap Homes

An outline of the plan to build suitable houses for the 400 or 500 people in Shanghai who are not suitably housed at the present time was given members of the Rotary Club at their weekly tiffin yesterday by Mr. Gordius Neilsen, father of the Hungjao Garden City.

Mr. Neilsen asserted that provided the public is willing to take the houses after they are built he can arrange with a syndicate to subscribe Tls. 700,000 for the construction of more houses immediately.

"And in these houses junior clerks can live like fighting cocks for Tls. 30 per month," Mr. Neilsen declared.

Socialist Soviet Union Issues Declaration To Governments Of World

(The following proclamation by the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics to the various nations and governments of the world is carried by the Roста News Agency in despatches from Moscow dated July 13 and just received here.)

From the very beginning of the existence of Soviet Republics they were united by relations of close co-operation and mutual aid which afterwards took the shape of union treaties. The power of the workers and peasants united them into one being by common interests in the fight against the external attacks of the capitalist states and against the internal attempts of the counter-revolution against the Soviet regime. The solidarity of the labor masses united them in one common task of the realisation of brotherly co-operation of the liberated nationalities. They came out together from the victorious proletarian revolution which has overthrown the power of landlords and capitalists. They underwent together the painful historic experience of intervention and blockade and they ensured it most courageously. They started together the colossal work of reconstructing their national economy on the basis of a new economic regime after having passed through the unheard of privations.

"Rendering each other a constant brotherly help with all their power and means, they, though tied by union treaties, remained however for a long time as separate states."

The further development of their mutual relations and the demands of the international situation have led them now to the unification into one Union State.

The increase of the world reaction and the aggressive tendencies of the imperialistic Governments and the consequent danger of new attacks make inevitable a unification of the defensive forces of all Soviet Republics into the hands of one united center.

At the same time the economic constructions in the Soviet Republics which were ruined by war, intervention and blockade appear to be an impossible task without the unification of their efforts and can be realised successfully only under the consistent leadership of one economic center of the whole Union.

The nature itself of the Workers' and Peasants' Power, with the gradual development and strengthening of the regime and the Soviet Republics, more and more urges them to unite and combine their efforts directed to one common aim.

At the congresses of their Soviets lately held the nations of Soviet Republics decided unanimously to form a Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, on United State. This union of equal nationalities remains absolutely voluntary and excludes national oppression; it does not compel any nation to remain within the Union and gives to each Republic the right of free exit from the Union, while opening at the same time a chance of voluntarily joining the Union to all Socialist Soviet Republics which may be founded in the future.

On July 6 the Declaration and the Covenant accepted by the Soviet Republics which entered into the Union were aproved by the Central Executive Committee of the Union and came into force.

In view of the necessity for Soviet Republics to join their forces for the defence against outside attacks, a united People's Commissariat of the Union for War and Navy was created.

In view of the fact that the Soviet Republics have common tasks and interests in respect to capitalist States, there was organised a united People's Commissariat of the Union for Foreign Affairs.

The necessity of the centralisation and conduct of foreign trade on the basis of State monopoly in order to protect the Soviet Republics from any attempt of capitalist States to the People's Commissariats of the Union for Ways of Communication and for Posts and Telegraphs.

Other branches of State activities of the Union Republics are partly subordinate to the Central administration of the Union, although each Republic has its own administration, and partly remain absolutely in the hands of separate Republics.

The direct administration of national economy and finance, the organization of food distribution, the official defence of the rights and interests of hired labor, the realisation of workers' and peasants' control over the whole State apparatus, will be simultaneously in the hands of the central administration in so far as it ought to receive directions from one center, and at the same time in the hands of the administration of each Republic of the Union in so far as special management is necessary in its territory.

The Commissariats having special national aims and dealing with national life and aspiration as for example education, agriculture, home affairs, justice, etc., will exist only in the Republics of the Union under their respective absolute administration.

The unity of will of the labor masses of the whole Union is expressed in its supreme organ, the Union Congress of Soviets, but at the same time each nation has a special representation in the Council of Nationalities which will act on a equal basis with the Union Council elected by the Congress.

The Union State which is created in this way on the basis of brotherly co-operation of the peoples of Soviet Republics has it as its object to preserve peace with all nations. Equal nationalities in close mutual contact and combined work will develop hand in hand their culture and welfare and they will realise the aims of the labor masses.

Being a natural ally of oppressed nationalities, the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics desires peaceful and friendly relations and economic co-operation with all nations of the world. The Union of Socialist Soviet Republics wants to help the interests of labor masses of the whole world. On the immense territory from the Baltic Sea, the Black Sea and the White Sea to the Pacific Ocean the Union realises the brotherhood between nations and the reign of labor, endeavoring at the same time to contribute to a friendly co-operation of the nations of the whole world.

Says Cards Tell Her She Will Escape Electric Chair

LAUGHING loudly in her cell in Auburn (N. Y.) State Prison, where she will be confined until taken to Sing Sing State Prison to be electrocuted for the murder of Frederick Schneider, wealthy New York contractor, with whom she lived and whom she was convicted of murdering in his automobile, Mrs. Anna Buzzi declared to reporters she would never die in the chair. "I have asked the cards," she said. "They told me at my trial I would be disappointed, but now they tell me I will get a new trial and that I will be freed."

Gallopers Swamp Millers In First Game Of Series

mentarily careless, rainbowed the ball to Juanito. The pitcher made a desperate effort to get the sphere back to his catcher in time but Freddy was too quick for him. Smith and Pepper then flew out, ending the scoring.

The Millers did not really threaten to score, so air tight was Scotty's pitching.

That was that, but don't think we're going to have a walkaway with these babies. They have a brace of fingers in Mumford and Bartolpo that are sure to give the Gallopers something to worry about.

"THE CALL OF HOME" is one picture in a thousand. It tells the life story of a man who deserted all he held dear because he thought the one woman was unfaithful to him.

He fled to South America, married a native girl who saved him from death in a torrential river, and tried to be contented.

But not until the bars that kept him from home were swept away by a devastating flood, and he had returned to home and kindred did he find peace and happiness.

This is a really great picture. The flood scenes will make you want to stand up and shout.

The Changing Tide Of Immigration

Commissioner General Husband reports a significant gain in immigration from Northern and Western European countries in the fiscal year ended June 30. Except Germany, they almost filled their quotas. In the previous fiscal year the percentage of arrivals was 46.4. Mr. Husband says:

"If the old type of immigrant is superior to the new type, as the critics have been claiming for years, the answer is that the country is on the road to success in getting that type back. There was a lot of skilled labor among the immigrants of the last year and we know that many of the Northern Europeans went west to the agricultural States.

By the "new type" of immigrant the Commissioner means those who come from Southern and Eastern Europe and Asiatic Turkish territory. In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1922, the percentage of the quotas admitted was 95.3. In his report for that year Mr. Husband said: "It is impossible to say how many aliens would have come from Southern and Eastern Europe and Turkey had it not been for the limitations afforded by the percentum limit act." More came last year (the fiscal year ended June 30, 1923). Mr. Husband says the quotas were exhausted if they were 10 instead of 3 per cent, the same story would probably be told. The Commissioner concludes that "the quota law and favorable economic conditions in the United States have brought a revival of the old-time immigration." He says that "we haven't had an assortment of this kind of arrivals in thirty years." Immigration from the United Kingdom increased from 42,674 to 77,343; Denmark, from 3,234 to 5,218; France, 4,343 to 5,034; the Netherlands, 2,408 to 3,317; Norway, 5,941 to 12,202; Sweden, 3,766 to 19,867; Switzerland, 3,723 to 3,752.

The gain from the United Kingdom is due in large part to unemployment. There are more than a million idle men there today, many of them subsisting on doles from the Government. The United States by comparison is a land of luxurious plenty. C. F. Masterman in his book "England After the War" shows how hard are the lives of millions of Englishmen in their struggle to keep the wolf from the door. To the middle class he gives a place below unskilled labor in earning power. It would be interesting to learn from the Bureau of Immigration what the occupations of the newcomers from the United Kingdom were. The middle class is probably well represented. Economic conditions in other Northern and Western European countries whose immigration total has gone up are also distressing. These new arrivals will be heartened by the opportunities open to them in the United States. They are the kind that come here to return to the old country with accumulated savings. Most of them will remain and become citizens, no doubt.

In the years since the war, there has been a set-off to the filled quota from Southern and Eastern Europe of immigrants who have returned to their native countries. In the case of the Italians, 40,412 immigrants arrived in the year ended June 30, 1922 (statistics for the last year are not available), and 53,650 Italians, exclusive of non-immigrants departed. Figures showing a larger departure proportionately could be quoted for the Greeks, Poles and Jugo-slavs. This was not, in the main, a drifting back to the home land of those who had acquired enough money to live comfortably for the remainder of their days. It was, in large part, an organised movement. Frances Kellor, in her book "Immigration and the Future" has offered this explanation: "Each European nation, to strengthen further its own nationalism, is sending out a call to its own well-to-do immigrants in other countries to return home, at least temporarily." This call, which seems to be political in most cases, is considered by patriotic immigrants "hardly less imperative than that of war." The new States urge their sons to return to help in the work of reconstruction and to build a new nation. But even Belgium has asked her able-bodied men to come back. Germany has organised to recall her colonists to the fatherland, but in the fiscal year just ended 49,250 Germans arrived in this country of a quota of 67,607. Commissioner Husband is probably right when he calculates that for some time to come the northern races will remain predominate in our immigration.—New York Times.

Coal Market

In their fortnightly report on the coal market, Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows:

Japan Coal:—During the past fortnight a couple of shiploads have been sold from stocks in Japan to native dealers here but this was a mere "flash in the pan" and the market is in reality very dull and uninteresting and the same applies also to the coal-market in Japan.

Fushun Coal:—No change.

Fuchung Anthracite: — No change.

Kaiping Coal:—A certain amount of ocean bunkering has been done during the last fortnight but otherwise the market is normal and cargoes pass almost directly into consumption to fill yearly contracts.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

August 23, 1923

Spot bar silver was down ⅛d. and forward 1-16d. in London yesterday. The New York price declined to 62¾ cents and the London-New York cross rate to 485. The only changes in our official quotations here today were a rise in the Franc rate to 1245 and in the Yen rate to 71. Our market at the opening was easy and became weak during the day with speculators quite strong buyers.

In the early part of the morning there were sellers of Sterling at 3-0⅝ for August, 3-0 11-16 for September, 3-0⅝ for October and 3-0½ for forward delivery. There were sellers of Gold Dollars at 69⅝ for near delivery and 69⅝ for forward.

However, speculators became strong buyers at these rates and the market quickly eased off closing with no sellers of Sterling at better than 3s. 0⅝d. for August, 3s. 0⅝d. for September, 3s. 0½d. for October and 3s. 0⅜d. for forward.

The best sellers of Gold Dollars were offering 69½ for near delivery and 69⅝ for forward. There were sellers of Yen at 70⅝ for near and 70½ for forward.

Banks were quoting 3s. 1½d., 71 and 1290 for Sterling, Gold Dollar and Franc bills respectively.

There was practically no business done in either the London or New York silver market yesterday, both of which are reported as dull.

Freight Market

In their fortnightly report on the freight market, Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows:

The Export trade to Europe and America continues as depressed as ever and future prospects are as quoted in our report of June 14. There is ample tonnage on all berths to meet immediate requirements.

Coastwise:—Since last writing trade conditions seem to have gone from bad to worse!—severe floods are reported from Newchwang and Antung which are seriously affecting trade, at the same time business is aggravated by weak markets in the south owing to the continued political unrest in Amoy, Swatow and Canton—the consequence in that prospects for the near future are very uncertain!

Do you feel nervous, tired and run down? A cup of OVOMALTINE taken regularly with or between your meals will work wonders. Try it!

OVOMALTINE
is a pure food, contains no drugs. Obtainable from all dispensaries and provision stores.

Exchange Market

In their weekly report on the exchange market, Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows:

Exchange: — After slight fluctuations the London price of silver at 31d. is 1-16d. lower than last week. The quotation for delivery two months forward is 30 13-16d.

Our official rate for T.T. on London remains at 3/0⅛d. Our local Gold dealers have continued selling Gold T.T.:—during the last few days selling mostly Francs and Gold dollars. Against these operations there has been a fair demand for Sterling and Gold Dollars T.T. and ⅛d. to ⅜d. over official rates has been offering for August—with 1-16d. per month down forward. Exports remain in a stagnant condition, and without the cover provided by the speculators our market would probably have weakened considerably. At the close a weaker tendency is apparent. Our stocks of silver are increasing, and with the silver due to arrive should approximate last year's stock.

Our stocks of silver are reported as follows:—

Sycee and Sar Silver, Tls. 25,983,000 an increase of Tls. 1,056000.

Chinese and Mexican Dollars, $37,820,000 an increase of 1,056,000.

Estimated value Tls. 53,217,000 as against Tls. 65,416,000 held at this time last year.

HOW MUCH IS YOUR BABY WORTH?

You will surely reply, "He is worth, to me, more than all the money in the world!" Such being the case you will be glad to know of a medicine which will help your baby's teething, enable him to sleep soundly, digest well and develop into a sturdy, healthy child. The name of this already well-known Canadian children's remedy is Baby's Own Tablets. Here is one endorsement out of many received. It comes from an American mother, Mrs. W. M. Stoddart of East Brookfield, Vt., U. S. A., who writes:—"I have never found anything as good as Baby's Own Tablets for regulating the bowels of little children. My baby was sick and restless while cutting his teeth but the Tablets quickly made him all right."

Baby's Own Tablets are an absolutely safe remedy for simple fever, indigestion, constipation, colic, diarrhœa, croup, eczema, also to expel worms. From chemists, or post free, 60 cents the vial, from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 60 Kiangse Road, Shanghai.

Trade

We invite the serious attention of readers to the series of Shanghai trade articles now appearing daily on the front page of THE CHINA PRESS. These articles are written by experts of long standing and experience in the lines which they discuss. In the last analogy we are all men of business and dependent upon business for the welfare of ourselves, our families and our countries. We must in fact say that business rules the world. Upon the wheels of industry the world rotates and when these wheels for any cause whatsoever are slowed down, the progress of civilisation is commensurately slowed down. Of the truth of this there can be no doubt for we have before us the events of the world war and the reactions of Bolshevism upon Russia. Not politics but business is the thing and when the world shall have realised this the politicians will revert to their proper sphere and their importance vis-a-vis the merchants will be found to be secondary. We have been preaching this, howling it, in fact to the merchants of China for sometime.

In the last few days our experts have surveyed not only the customs methods and maxims of business in China: they have set forth the definite present position of the market for certain commodities, such as the export market for sesamun seeds, ground nuts, China wood oil, and bean oil: also the position as to the metal market including British plates, American pipe, copper, pig iron and so on. Today the ever present rice problem is discussed, and as our presentation of its intricacies is before you now on page one we need not say more. Its importance to the welfare and even the life of the Far East requires no emphasis here.

This series of business and market surveys is now definitely established as a daily feature of THE CHINA PRESS. The Far East is a beehive of industry and Shanghai is the center and ever-growing metropolis of it. We feel that these accurate and authentic articles prepared for us by leaders in the respective lines discussed will be of real benefit to businessmen not only here but throughout the east and in the home countries, and with this thought uppermost we piously commend them to your consideration.

A bulletin of the National Geographic Society says that scientists are now wondering if it wasn't a banana instead of an apple that caused Adam's downfall in the Garden of Eve. Biblical evidence that Adam slipped and fell would seem to favor the banana theory.

OLD CHINESE EMBROIDERY

Thin yellow fingers toiled long weeks to make
This beauty, for the very beauty's sake;
Not, it is certain, for the paltry price
That brought the bit of fish, the bowl of rice
At daily hunger's need. No hireling are
Could win this rich achieving. It his heart
The workman loved, each silken thread he drew;
This poignant lacquer-red, this matchless blue
Of wind-swept waves where round white bubbles cling
The gray-brown of this bird on gracious wing.
This amber, coral, amethyst and jade—
Soft colors like to jewels. Now they fade
To blended radiance, so long ago
That Eastern craftsman set them there, to glow
In dimming splendor as the years went by.
He loosed the finished fabric with the sign
With which the artist yields his dear success,
To time, and those who cherish loveliness.

The Things That Matter

China's great need is the want of a few leading men who are prepared to pay attention to the things that matter, irrespective of personal interest, and to act as pattern to others. The influence of a good example in high places can hardly be overestimated, but it would be difficult to point to a single one of the country's big men who is showing it, or to one who takes an interest in the things that really matter. All of them are occupied with affairs personal to themselves and, although they know how to talk about the welfare of the country, they are one and all of them distinctly loath to pursue it. The proverb says: "Like master, like man" and the rank and file, following the example of their leaders, do exactly as they do.

For instance, it does not really matter whether Tsao Kun becomes President or not. He would probably fill the post as well as any other, and he is exceedingly anxious to get it. He has already collected and spent enormous sums of money in the attempt, and in so doing has created a most unwholesome situation. But China seems able to carry on without a President, just as there are some insects of a low order who can still contrive to exist in spite of being deprived of their head. What really matters at the present time is the restoration of public security throughout his jurisdiction and, although he is in a position to enforce that, he pays it no attention. With the country swarming with bandits, and soldiers who are out on their own, life and property are endangered every day, and deeds are done which would make the world shudder if the facts were only known. To restore order would help him more than anything else towards the attainment of the Presidency, but his eyes are blinded and he cannot see it.

Wu Pei-fu's ambition to reunite the country is admirable, but not the way in which he is going about it. He also takes no interest in the maintenance of public security, and although he has contrived to obtain the control of all the military forces in Central China he says it is none of his business to use them for this particular purpose. It is the business of the civil magistrate from whom he has already taken away the means of doing so. He has sent military expeditions into four of the leading provinces, where bitter fighting is being carried on to the ruination of the people whom he further robs in the most unscrupulous way of their wealth in order to pay his soldiers. The only possible end to this mode of procedure is the destruction of the country, a lesser Wu Pei-fu's springing up all over and copy his example by uniting strips of the country under their own control. The thing that matters for Wu Pei-fu, before he can hope to accomplish much, is to gain the confidence of the people. At present they are ready to eat his flesh and grind his bones.

Dr. Sun Yat-sen is a man of mystery. His principles are mostly good; he has not earned for himself the name of an unscrupulous money-grabber like too other men who hold the chief rule in the provinces; his followers cling to him closely, and under his inspiration great advances have been made in the [illegible]. But like a bull with horns on both ends he has more fish on hand than he can do justice to, and there is no immediate prospect of his nearing the end of them. What are the things that really matter in his case we cannot tell.

So much for the fighting men, but it is when we come to the people, as judged by the conduct of their official representatives, the members of parliament, that we find the widest departure from the things that really matter. Elected originally for four years they have contrived to cling to their positions for ten, and in all that time have never done anything for the benefit of the country. When in session they have spent their time in endless squabbles, punctuated with occasional fights and the throwing of ink-bottles. They have consistently opposed the proposals of the Government and never had any of their own. They have been dissolved and recalled twice over, but were never any wiser when they came back. They have been on pilgrimage from North to South, and from East to West, but to no chance did they ever acquire any wisdom on the way. The sooner they are got rid of for good the better it will be for the country.

The chief mischief wrought by them has been through their deplorable example. Their profligate lives were notorious, and their general behavior could only be covered with that of hooligans and [illegible]. Only a few months ago the Speaker of the House snatched up the furniture and dishes in a restaurant besides beating the proprietor because the food was not to his liking. Their distinguishing characteristic was their venality. Their votes were always for sale to the highest bidder; they were constantly scrambling for more money. In connection with the making of the Constitution, they had to be guaranteed an extra $20 per day for every time they put in an appearance, and even then, although they collected the dollars, they did not remain to put through the business. In a recent Shanghai paper we find it stated that more than 500 members of parliament received their travelling expenses from Tientsin to Shanghai but only about 260 used the money for its specified purpose. The remainder received their money and returned to Peking. It is believed that at present the bulk of them are drawing pay from all the political parties alike and will maintain faith with none of them.

These things are not done in a corner; the whole country knows about them, and their effect on the public must be disastrous. The things that matter for the parliamentarians are the cultivation of common honesty, and some measure of devotion to duty. Without these they will never accomplish anything but mischief. It thus appears that what China extremely needs is men of character, both in her civil and military ranks. She may possess some but their numbers are few, and the chance of obtaining control by them is remote. Until this great want has been provided for, it is to be feared that "from bad to worse" will continue to be the rule in this country.—Central China Post.

Bobbie And His Pa

BY W. F. KIRK

This morning I runned all the way to skool in four minuits and wen I calm hoam this noon I told Pa how fast I runned to skool.

That's the stuff, Bobbie, sed Pa. No boy ever regretted running to skool, Bobbie, sed Pa, but many a boy regretted running the other way, sed Pa.

Bobbie is a lot like me, sed Ma. Wen I was a mere slip of a gurl I used to triplitely all the way to skool, sed Ma. I feer I cud not do that now.

I will say you cuddent, sed Pa. If you tried to trip litely now, sed Pa, you wud trip and fall, I sed. Imagin you tripping on wares now, sed Pa. Ha Ha.

What is it, a Silf? I sed.

A Silf is a slim littel creetur, Bobbie, sed Ma. Sumthing like a Elf or a Fay, sed Ma. Sumthing like what yure noabel father isent, Bobbie, sed Ma.

I am not now that which I onst was, sed Pa. That is trew. But when I was Bobbie's age, sed Pa, I was fast as a sunbeem, Pa sed, and I carried sunbeems with me everyware I went, also, sed Pa.

I wish you cud trap a few of them sunbeems nowdays, sed Ma, espechully at the brekfust tabel.

Realy, sed Pa. Do I look that Glum? sed Pa.

Then, sed Pa, I wish you wud reemind me of it any time I look that way, sed Pa, and I will at onst cheer up and smile, sed Pa. I know of no good reeson why I shud look sollem, sed Pa. I have everything in this wurld to maik me happy, sed Pa, a deer littel wife, a sweet-faced chile that is all the time asking me for Does, and a Incum tax to pay and everything, sed Pa. I will cheer up and face the future like a heero, sed Pa. That will it do, in vary sooth, sed Pa.

-:- Childhood -:-

My daddy thinks that little boys should go to bed each night,
Way down a long and narrow hall, and never have a light;
He doesn't know the awful things that hide there out of sight;
Behind the curtain shadows black, they grin and dance and fight.

Upon the walls are creeping things that move from left to right;
You never know how soon they'll fall, you can't be certain, quite;
There're lions, tigers, monkeys, too and ghosts so thin and white—
My daddy says that they'll not harm, but I still think they might.

Green lizards crawl along the floor in streaks of moonbeams bright
That's why I pray to God in bed with covers drawn up tight;
For when I kneel I always think my toes they'll grab and bite—
It's hard on boys, so small and scared, alone without a light.

I know if daddy went to bed and didn't have a light,
Way down a long and narrow hall, and saw such things at night,
That he'd not say to me again: "Come, son, it's time for flight;
Just stop that howling, noisy young man, for you'll not get a light."

-:- Away -:-

BY JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY

I cannot say, and I will not say
That he is dead. He is just away!

With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land.

And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there.

And you—O you, who the wildest yearn
For the old-time steep and the glad return,

Think of him farming on, as dear
In the love of There, as the love of Here;

And loyal still, as he gave the blows
Of his warrior-strength to his country's foes.

Mild and gentle as he was brave,
When the sweetest love of his life he gave

To simple things: Where the violets grew
Blue as the eyes they were likened to,

The touches of his hands have strayed
As reverently as his lips have prayed.

When the little brown thrush that harshly chirred
Was dear to him as the mocking-bird;

And he pitied as much as a man in pain
A writhing honey-bee wet with rain.

Think of him still as the same, I say:
He is not dead—he is just away!

More Truth Than Poetry

BY S. E. KISER

Money's a troublesome thing;
It was doubtless the devil's invention;
It has caused many people to swing,
It's the breeder of hate and dissention;
Money has driven men mad;
Pleasure must wait while we earn it;
As soon as he gets it from dad
Son becomes eager to burn it.

If money had never been made
No beggar would ever go begging;
It's all for the money he's paid
That the crafty bootlegger's bootlegging;
For money men go to the dogs,
And money makes Folly strut proudly;
Money makes many men hogs;
It talks, and too often too loudly.

Money keeps men on their toes;
Money brings death and disaster;
It lags when approaching; it goes
Faster and faster and faster!
It coaxes the deacon astray;
It's the thing for which brokers are bruising;
Father must get it to pay
For the title that daughter is choosing.

Money sends armies to kill
It softens the proud woman's glances;
For a filthy and ragged old bill
A man will take desperate chances;
Money's the father of frauds,
But its powers is never debated,
And it's pleasant to have it in wads—
At least, I have heard it so stated.

Unfailing River—The Father Of Lies

I.

"There is a river the streams whereof shall make glad the city of God."—Psalm 46:4.

Last summer I saw two streams emptying into the sea. One was a sluggish, niggardly rivulet, in a wide, flat, muddy bed; and every day the tide came in and drowned out that poor little stream, and filled it with bitter brine.

The other was a vigorous, joyful, brimming mountain-river, fed from unfailing springs among the hills; and all the time it swept the salt water back before it and kept itself pure and sweet; and when the tide came in, it only made the fresh water rise higher and gather new strength by the delay; and ever the living stream poured forth into the ocean its tribute of living water—the symbol of that influence which keeps the ocean of life from turning into a Dead Sea of wickedness.

When the evil of the world seems to overflow and choke you and drown out your soul, it may be because you are not giving out enough good.

If we were more generous we should be less poor.

For the life which has its springs in God never runs dry.

II.

"And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die."—Gen. 3:4.

The attempt to deny or ignore evil has been the stock in trade of every false doctrine that has befogged and bewildered the world since the days of Eden.

The fairy tale that the old serpent told to Eve is a poetic symbol of the the fundamental—the theory that sin does not mean death, because it has no real existence and makes no real difference.

"Evil is nothing," say these teachers. "It is not real. It is an illusion, a negation. Shut your eyes and it will vanish."

Yes, but open your eyes again and you will see it in the same place, in the same form, doing the same work.

A most persistent nothing, a most powerful nothing!

Not the shadow cast by the good, but the cloud that hides the sun and casts the shadow.

Not the "silence implying sound," but the discord breaking the harmony.

Evil is as real as the fire that burns you, as the flood that drowns you, as the typhoid germ that you can put under a microscope and study.

Profile Maps And Globes

See how much truth remains when the rectangular axes of the human profile are misproportioned only as 10 to 1. In profile pictures of the ocean floor the misproportion is at least as 150 to 1.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

I have often wondered how much correct information the average person gets from the various "profile maps" and "profile globes" much used nowadays to represent both small and large portions of the earth's surface, and even the entire planet. I fear that in many cases very mistaken impressions are conveyed as to the real shape and proportions of the terrestrial features and the various objects shown. Attention is recalled to this subject by a "profile" recently published of the Atlantic ocean bottom between Gibraltar and Cape Cod. The vertical scale is so prodigiously exaggerated that the picture looks like a profile, cut out of black paper, of a narrow valley half filled with gigantic, many-towered castles and sharp-pointed church steeples. Taking the width of the ocean at 3,000 miles, it is represented as over 460 miles deep! It is a fair question whether it does not require a greater exercise of the imagination to perceive the reality lying distorted behind such a representation than would be needed to form a similar picture from numerical figures stating the facts as they are.

A similar difficulty arises when relief models of mountains, or other large terrestrial features are made. Often the disproportion between the vertical and horizontal distances is so great that a great deal of mental reconstruction is needed before a true picture of the region represented can be obtained, and then, of course, it is a picture in the mind made to take the place of the one before the eye. If you take one of these relief models with you on a visit to the locality represented, you may experience a violent wrench of the imagination in trying to reconcile the discordance.

To my eye a globe of the earth covered with heaps of plaster-of-paris to represent mountain ranges is merely a caricature, neither amusing nor instructive. Such features are most truthfully represented by some of the conventional symbols of the map-makers. Think, on a globe three feet in diameter, Mt. Everest would be correctly represented by an almost imperceptible elevation of between two and three hundredths of an inch, and the deepest holes in the ocean would not descend three hundredths of an inch below the mean surface of the globe. To represent the earth, then, bristling with strange ruggosities is an unintentional falsification of the facts, which is apt to breed very wrong impressions in uninstructed minds.

The graph system of representing numerical and physical ratios is often abused and overdone. It is a fad of the day in scientific literature. Statistical tables are often much to be preferred, and convey far more trustworthy impressions of the facts. Where the rectangular coordinates, say the height and the length or breadth can be represented in their real proportions, neither being falsified, a graph is unexceptionably the best, as it is the most striking form in which an idea of this kind can be conveyed from one mind to another, or can be represented to the mind of the maker himself.

But as soon as different scales are applied to the two coordinates, and it becomes necessary to correct mentally the false picture that is produced, there is a waste of effort and attention. Adepts, of course, are not troubled, and by driving convention far enough it would be possible to represent all the relations of nature, and of human life, by characteristic "curves." But what would be the sense of going back to hieroglyphics when we have better ways to record knowledge, and ways that convey it more correctly?

A Treasure-Trove of Humor From His Newly Discovered Newspaper Writings

AN X-RAY FABLE

AND it came to pass that a man with a Cathode Ray went about the country finding out and showing the people, for a consideration, the insides of folks' heads and what they were thinking about. And he never made a mistake.

And in a certain town lived a man whose name was Reuben and a maid whose name was Ruth. And the two were sweethearts and were soon to be married.

And Reuben came to the man and hired him with coin to take a snap shot at Ruth's head, and find out whom she truly loved.

And later on Ruth came and also hired the man to find out whom Reuben truly loved. And the man did so and got two good negatives.

In the meantime Reuben and Ruth confessed to each other what they had done, and the next day they came together, hand in hand, to the man with the Ray, for their answer. The man saw them, and he wrote two names on two slips of paper and gave them into their hands.

"On these slips of paper," he said, "you will find the name of the one whom each of you loves best in the world, as truly discovered by my wonderful Cathode Ray."

And the man and the maid opened the pieces of paper and saw written on one "Reuben" and on the other "Ruth," and they were filled with joy and happiness, and went away with arms about each other's waists.

But the man with the Ray neglected to mention the fact that the photographs he had taken showed that Reuben's head was full of deep and abiding love for Reuben and Ruth's showed her to be passionately enamored of Ruth.

The moral is that the proprietor of the Ray probably knew his business.

THE UNCONQUERABLE

A man may avoid the Nin-compoop
By flying fast and far;
And even subdue the Scalawag
By stratagems of war.
And he even may dodge the Fly-up-the-Creek
If he's lucky and does not fear;
And sometimes conquer the powerful chump
Though the victory cost h'm dear
And a brave man do up the big Galoot,
Though it be a terrible fight.
But no man yet has escaped from the clutch
Of the terrible Blatherskite.

Once Overs

If you have a good money-making scheme, do not tell about it.

Do not be so elated over the fact that you inform others and tell them how remunerative it is.

Many persons whom you consider friends may be until a matter of money or financial deals comes up. Friendship is often tested in dollars.

As soon as it is learned that you have something from which you are making money there are always those who will try to worm out of you the sort of information which will enable them to compete with you.

Many a snug little income has been lost because the possessor of it was so enthusiastic and so pleased with his success that he literally "gave it AWAY."

In a party of men have you not noticed that the most successful are the open, yet most quiet and reticent?

They listen and learn; they do not talk and give away the weapons which can be used against them.

You can recall instances of you not, where you have talked too much?

It Is Your Youth Which Is Attractive To Youth

BY J. J. MUNDY

Do not be a foolish old woman or a silly old man.

You cannot make yourself into the likeness of a young person when you are no longer young.

What is worse than a woman old enough to be a grandmother who tries to imitate a girl in her teens?

Is there anything more silly than a man of grandfather age trying to pass for a debonair youth?

And strangely such men think they are attractive to young girls.

Say, you silly old fellow, what is there about you to interest an active and really attractive young woman?

She can claim the society of fresh-appearing and interesting young men.

Why should she waste her time with you?

If she does it is money she wants—no other reason.

Youth appeals to youth for companionship and while there may be a feeling of reverence and love as for a grandfather, or a grandmother or even a father or mother, it can never be the same sort of attraction as youth for youth.

Weather Report

Remarks on the 22nd.—The high pressures are increasing over Northern Japan and over northern China. The Pacific Ocean typhoon is reaching the Loochoos near Oshima and threatens the east of the Eastern Sea and Kiusiu. The low center over the China Sea is probably advancing towards Hainan. Cyclonic circulation very violent all around the Loochoos. Rather fresh NEly breezes over our coasts.

Morning of the 23rd.—Cloudy weather with fresh northerly to NEly squalls because of the typhoon crossing the Eastern Sea NW ward, and nearing our coasts. Slowly decreasing pressure.

Relief Committee Needs More Funds For Soup Kitchen

An appeal to the public for funds to continue the Soup Kitchen for the relief of destitute Russians was voiced yesterday by Mr. A. E. Lockyer, the treasurer of the Refugee Relief Advisory Committee.

In making public a list of donations, Mr. Locker took the opportunity to thank all subscribers for their generous support, which has so swelled the available fund as to assure the continuance of the Soup Kitchen for another two months.

The numbers of meals of soup and bread served daily total 700 and are the only salvation of many refugees from starvation, Mr. Lockyer says. Expenses for this program amount to about $1,000 a month, whereas the total of monthly subscriptions is only $260, leaving a large balance to be raised by public subscriptions.

Mr. Lockyer's report follows:
